

Dr. Janis Goldie

Dr. Janis Goldie, Dean, Academic Programs, Alberta University of the Arts

2023 AMNA Adjudicator

Dr. Goldie brings over ten years of experience in strategic and operational leadership as well as a proven track record of building post-secondary programs and institutional synergies from Huntington University. As former Chair and Professor of Communication Studies, she has extensive experience in university academic program development and community relations. She developed and implemented applied and experiential academic pathways such as Work-Integrated-Learning and articulation/transfer agreements with academic partners. Dr. Goldie's university and community governance experience includes chairing the University Senate and Research Ethics Boards, leading internal and external institutional quality program reviews, developing campus EDI initiatives and participating on numerous university committees and community organizations as a Director.

Dr. Goldie has demonstrated passion for creating an exceptional and inclusive experience for diverse learners and team members. She was awarded the Edward J. Conroy Alumni Award for Excellence in Teaching, was co-director of the Lougheed Teaching and Learning Centre at Huntington University and has taught over 20 unique courses in various modes of delivery. Her scholarly research applies critical communication analysis to a range of discursive mediums. Recent books published include 'The Handmaid's Tale': Teaching Dystopia, Feminism, and Resistance across Disciplines and Borders (2019, Rowan and Littlefield) and New Perspectives on the War Film (2019, Palgrave).

Dr. Janis Goldie

Dr. Janis Goldie, Dean, Academic Programs, Alberta University of the Arts

2023 AMNA Adjudicator

Dr. Goldie brings over ten years of experience in strategic and operational leadership as well as a proven track record of building post-secondary programs and institutional synergies from Huntington University. As former Chair and Professor of Communication Studies, she has extensive experience in university academic program development and community relations. She developed and implemented applied and experiential academic pathways such as Work-Integrated-Learning and articulation/transfer agreements with academic partners. Dr. Goldie's university and community governance experience includes chairing the University Senate and Research Ethics Boards, leading internal and external institutional quality program reviews, developing campus initiatives and participating on numerous university committees and community organizations as a Director.

EDI

Dr. Goldie has demonstrated passion for creating an exceptional and inclusive experience for diverse learners and team members. She was awarded the Edward J. Conroy Alumni Award for Excellence in Teaching, was co-director of the Lougheed Teaching and Learning Centre at Huntington University and has taught over 20 unique courses in various modes of delivery. Her scholarly research applies critical communication analysis to a range of discursive mediums. Recent books published include 'The Handmaid's Tale': Teaching Dystopia, Feminism, and Resistance across Disciplines and Borders (2019, Rowan and Littlefield) and New Perspectives on the War Film (2019, Palgrave).

BORGER

AIRDRIE MAYOR'S

Night of the

Ats